

A SANDY STOCKINGS SAGA

Get ready to 'Bee' who you wanna be!

Sandy Stockings is having a tough year, and sixth grade has only just begun! She feels like the smallest person in the world, especially in her new middle school where the school bully hates her guts. Home is no refuge either. Her father passed away a few years ago, and all the life seems to have gone out of her mother at the same time. Now Sandy is as lonely as can be, left only with vague dreams of being an actress like her mother once was. But when she finds a special, mysterious book about a lonely little bee named Asher, Sandy is able to make some changes in her life so she can start to be who she is meant to be.

I Wanna Be... takes readers on an inspiring journey with a lovable heroine and lessons in bee-coming whoever we dream of bee-ing!

A portion of the proceeds from the sale of this book go to the Sandy Stockings Foundation to help people fulfill their dreams. For more information go to: www.sandystockings.com

John Jacobs graduated from Ohio University in 1972 with a degree in education. He taught elementary school for five years while earning his Masters degree in reading and learning disability from Purdue University. In 1977, John took a leave of absence from teaching to pursue his administrator's license so he might fulfill another dream of becoming an elementary school principal. He never formally returned to the educational field.

John spent twenty-five years with a Fortune 500 company until, at the age of fifty, he decided to follow another dream, owning his own company. He started Sataria, a very successful warehouse and distribution company.

Today, while running Sataria, John is pursuing another dream; he is a passionate "wannabe" writer and motivational speaker who helps those who do not have confidence in themselves. John believes that everyone has what it takes to succeed when they have someone to mentor, motivate, and believe in them.
